Canyon Needs Community Spirit, Bob Wear Tells Rotarians Tuesday

"Will Canyon be little more than a dormitory for people who work in Amarillo?" Bob Wear asked the Canyon Rotary Club Tuesday at the annual Farmers Day observance of the club.

Wear observed that the people of Canyon must decide now what the community will become in the future, and that proper planning backed by a community spirit of cooperation can make the community what the people want.

He prefaced his talk by saying that Canyon is a good place to live, but two questions should be asked: 1. Can it be improved?, and 2. What will it be like five years from now?

Wear said that Canyon, as a community, can be improved, and it is being improved now. But there is a great need for an improved community spirit, he said.

"We are fighting for our existence and we must stop thinking selfishly. I have observed in Canyon many projects go begging for lack of people to work at them. Too many are thinking, 'How will this service benefit me? What will I get out of it?'

More of us must be willing to leave our selfish pursuits and give time, effort and energy to community good," Wear said.

"People here are letting events happen and not enough people are helping to make them happen. All of us will probably do more for the common good when we reach the point in our thinking where we can honestly feel that we don't care who gets the credit so long as the community receives the profit from our services," he said.

Wear said that the time is past when the people of the community should be talking about which segment of community life is more important. He said the college is important for many reasons, and cited that more than $2 million was released in the community during 1958 by the college through payroll, student spending and other purchases.

He said that the business and professional segments are important as well. "The people working in agriculture and related activities are important. Today we are giving special attention to the farmers of our area and acknowledge the great contribution they make to community life," Wear said.

He cited figures showing that the gross income from agriculture in Randall County was $11,276,700.

"We cannot afford to be bickering among ourselves, saying, 'What I'm doing is more important than what you're doing.'" Wear said. "The time has come to be strong and it must be in our unity, not in our bickering."

In discussing the second question of the day, Canyon's immediate future, Wear cited building construction figures from the city and surrounding cities showing that Canyon is leading the area in residential construction for cities of comparable size.

"Now to give you a hint as to what may be happening to Canyon: While we led all of the surrounding communities in our class in residential construction, we are at the other end, by thousands of dollars, in commercial construction," Wear said.

"What Canyon becomes depends in large measure on what we do, now. We can be sure of one thing: We must have some definite plans and the means to make them work. I understand that some other people, outsiders, have plans for us. If we don't make definite plans for the future, we will be forced to accept a future that has been forced on us by others," Wear said.

"If we don't work to create better community spirit, much of the force and power of community life is going to come from people outside of Canyon," he said.

"Our community is the college, the businessman, the professional man, the farmer, the dairyman, and all others who perform essential services in our society," Wear said. "If we work together, giving a just part of ourselves, our possessions, our abilities, our energies and our time to the common good, there may be a bright future for Canyon."

Talk About Rule By the Minority!

Something like an eighth or sixteenth of the people in Randall County are going to be running things this next year.

Figure it this way. Between one-quarter and one-half of the people who can bother to vote. Yesterday only 2,083 poll taxes had been paid in the county. That's about a quarter of those who would be eligible to vote if they paid their poll taxes.

Poll tax paying deadline is Jan. 31.

A workshop on buttercakes and home foods will be held Friday at 10 a. m. in the Farm Bureau building.

Eagles Win Two For 3-1 Record

The Canyon Eagles won two district games during the past week, and are riding near the top of District 1-AA with a three-win, one-loss record.

On Friday, the Eagles defeated Dalhart 46-42 and on Tuesday they defeated Friona 63-60. The only district loss the Eagles suffered was to league-leading Dimmitt.

New Highways Have Cost Nearly 1¼ Million Dollars Since 1955

Nearly 1¼ million dollars has been spent for highawy right of way in Randall County since the present program began in 1955, the commissioners court was told Monday in a report from County Auditor E. T. Cummings.

The total spent from 1955 through the present is $1,219,160.60 the report shows.

Right of way for the Happy highway cost $80,638.68. The right of way for the Hereford highway cost $254,873.39. So far, the right of way for the expressway has cost $859,960.74.

In addition, the county has spent $23,687.79 in legal fees, commissions, court costs and other costs.

Of the $254,873.39 spent on the Hereford highway, half will be paid by the state highway department. A portion of the legal and court costs will also be borne by the state.

Cummings' report shows a balance of $11,146.99 to be in the right of way fund on Jan. 31. In addition, a $40,000 claim has been filed with the state, and other claims are being prepared.

The state will share the cost of purchasing the rest of the right of way needed on the expressway.

In other action, the court awarded raises to two more county employees. Mrs. Kay Jones, in the clerk's office, Mrs. Wilma J. Wells, secretary to the county agricultural and home demonstration agents, were raised from $200 to $225.

Mrs. Mona Hildreth, home demonstration agent, served cake and coffee to the court, and presented them with yearbooks of the county HD clubs. Mrs. Hildreth requested the court raise her mileage allowance in view of the fact that she drives about 1,000 miles a month. The allowance was raised from $44.66 to $55 a month.

Two New Year's Fires Are Grass

The new year started off just like the old for the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department.

Two fire alarms were turned in last week and both were grass fires. One, on Friday, was at the west edge of Canyon, and the other on Saturday was east of town.

Last year, a great majority of all fires turned in were grass or trash fires.

Alby Kuehler Takes Gray County Post

Alby Ann Kuehler, a graduate of West Texas State College, will assume the post of assistant home demonstration agent for Gray County Feb. 1.

Miss Kuehler was the Randall County 4-H Club Gold Star girl in 1957 and represented the county at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago in December, 1957. She is a graduate of Canyon High School.

She was graduated from WT at md-semester.

McNutt Named Chief of Police

Max D. McNutt was promoted to Canyon Chief of Police last week by the city commission to replace Bill Pickering, who resigned.

Pickering resigned to accept a position with the Plainview force. He came to Canyon from Plainview.

McNutt has been the patrolman for the Canyon department. The city commission is now accepting applications for McNutt's old post.

Murder Conspiracy Trial Set for George McCarthy on February 9

The trial of one of four men indicted by the Potter County Grand Jury for conspiracy to murder has been set for Feb. 9 in 47th District Court in Amarillo.

At a docket call Monday, presided over by Judge E. C. Nelson of the 108th District Court, the trial of attorney George McCarthy was set. S. F. Rose, a member of McCarthy's law firm, filed a motion in court asking that McCarthy be severed from the blanket indictment and tried as soon as possible.

Rose asked that the trial be set Feb. 2 in 108th District Court. Judge Nelson said he did not believe that the 108th had jurisdiction, but set the trial for Feb. 9 in 47th District Court with himself as judge. He mentioned that he and Judge E. E. Jordan of the 47th occasionally traded courtrooms and acted for each other.

Others named in the murder conspiracy indictment were Randall County Judge Roy Joe Stevens, Amarillo bail bondsman Harold Erlandson and Airman William Gerald Miller of Amarillo Air Force Base.

Trials for the others in the indictment were not set at the docket call, nor were trials for five men indicted for an alleged conspiracy to bribe a juror.

In the bribery conspiracy indictment are Judge Stevens, Erlandson, Stevens' law partner, Joe Brock, Edwin Dale West and Ray Tucker. West was named in a separate indictment, also, on a count of attempting to bribe a juror. That indictment was dismissed on motion of Potter County Dist. Atty Wayne Bagley.

Fine Plan, No Takers

If we were a member of a group of patrons being unhappy about the schools —wanting to fire the superintendent or force the board to serve sirloin steak in the cafeteria or to require that physical education pupils be taught to box beesbees while standing on their heads and wearing boxing gloves—this would be the year we'd begin a move to take over control of the school board.

This year, terms of three of the members become vacant. Getting three members on the seven-member board would be getting mighty close to a majority in a hurry.

Here's how we'd go about the job of getting our men elected.

We'd go to work very quietly, picking our men, and gaining their consent to serve. We'd then spread the word, also quietly, being sure that we did not talk to anyone who might be hostile to our ideas of how the school should be run.

During the next couple of months, we'd line up about 100 people pledged to our men. Then on election day, in April, we'd have our 100 voters write-in the names of our men and we'd be out on top at the end of the day.

Last year, you know, only 57 people bothered to vote in the school board election. It would have taken only 58 write-in votes to win last year. But just to be on the safe side we'd like to line up 100 voters to write in our candidates' names.

There are two hitches to this plan, however. The first hitch is the one you hit when you try to keep something quiet. That's pretty hard to do, anytime, anywhere.

The second hitch is probably the harder one to untie. It might be nearly impossible to find 100 people who have paid their poll taxes, much less find 100 who have paid their poll tax and also think along your line of reasoning.

So, we don't guess this will be the year for any group to take over control of the school board. There just won't be enough people to vote, one way or the other.

Poll tax deadline is Jan. 31, next Saturday.

Atomic Schedule

Someone took umbrage at our recent suggestion that our avenues and streets be lettered and numbered rather than numbered and numbered. They said that lots of other towns have letters and numbers, but Canyon is one of the few with numbers and numbers.

Now, we won't back away from our proposition that using numbers and numbers is confusing. And we'd like to see some system kept in the naming, so that one can go right down the schedule to figure out how many blocks it is from here to there. Using trees or heroes or family names won't do that.

But one system might work quite well. And the chemistry teachers might bless us for it. We could number our streets just as at present, but we could change our numbered avenues to the names of elements, and name them in the order they come on the table of atomic weights.

Today's First Avenue would become Hydrogen Avenue. Second Avenue would become Helium Avenue. And right on up the list. (We'd name a few more, but we don't know the atomic table ourselves.)

There could be a complication later on. The scientists keep finding new elements and inserting them in the table. But most of them are quite heavy, and it wouldn't become much of a problem for Canyon for a number of years.

New Taxes

When you read of additional taxes to be placed on natural gas, gasoline, automobiles, or whatever, don't be misled into thinking some company will have to pay the tax.

The payment of the levies will be passed on, and ultimately the consumer pays.

All taxes are paid by individuals, some are paid directly and some are paid indirectly. But the final bill for taxes comes to the people.

Don't be fooled by the words used to describe the new taxes. If you want to have more of your income left over to use for living costs, write your representatives in Austin and Washington and get them to cut expenditures. That's the only way it can be done.

Down? Really

They say the cost of living went down the other day.

We didn't notice it around our house. Did you?

Cuisine Mobile

Most West Texans just call it a chuck wagon, but the United Nations calls it a "cuisine mobile de cow-boys."

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum was one of 15 regional museums in the United States to be featured in a publication called "Museums" that was published recently in Paris by UNESCO and printed in Switzerland.

The short article described the museum and told about its financing. Along with the article was a picture of the diorama in the museum that shows the JA chuck wagon.

The quarterly review was printed both in English and French, and told of museums in the US, France, Poland and Switzerland.

If you happen to go to France some day and hear the phrase "cuisine mobile," you'll know that someone is talking about a chuck wagon and you can feel right at home.

Compromise Plan

(The following is borrowed from The Canadian Record. The Editor)

Lyndon Johnson's big "compromise" settlement of the U. S. Senate dispute over filibuster rules reminds us of the classic story of the hen-pecked husband who declared that he and his wife successfully compromised all their marital disputes by "doing it her way."

The old Senate rules required a two-thirds vote of all senate members to shut off debate. Senator Johnson's "compromise" requires only a two-thirds vote of all senators present to do the job.

About the only difference this is likely to make in filibuster situations may be to make more senators stay in the chamber to listen to the filibuster . . . to guard against a "sneak attack" by a handful of insurgents.

And, come to think of it, this might result in a more effective anti-filibuster bill than the wily Lyndon intended. If at least one-third of the Senate has to sit around the Senate chamber through long hours of speech-making to guard against a shut-off vote by the other two-thirds, this itself might tend to shut off unlimited debate.

If a filibuster's parliamentary supporters were required to actually sit and listen to their champion, there'd be a lot less enthusiasm for the maneuver.

A lot of Senators are perfectly willing to let a fellow solon talk for days on end . . . provided they don't have to stay around and listen to him do it.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Paul Crume in the Dallas Morning News: Verlon P. Harmon Jr. and his wife stepped on an elevator from the eighth floor of Loma Alta apartment the other night and came face to face with a beaming elderly couple.

The elderly lady explained that her son and his wife and little boy had just hit town and were waiting downstairs. Then with a troubled look, she said her son and his family were on their way to Korea.

Harmon spoke up quickly to reassure her. He had served as an enlisted man in Korea, he told her, and her son's family was in for a very interesting and pleasant experience.

The lady perked up at that and then asked what kind of living quarters were over there and whether the boys were well cared for. Harmon replied that he had lived in a tent but that fine permanent quarters were now set up for service families.

"The United States gives its service men the best of care," he assured her.

The elevator touched bottom about that time, and as the Harmons departed, the elderly couple joyfully greeted their son and his family—a pretty young woman, a small boy and a Brigadier General.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

The 1958 election of a governor to a third term is the second time that Arkansas has given a man three terms in the governor's chair. The man first so honored was Jeff Davis in the early 1900's.

I was a small boy at the time and my father ran a drug store in Brinkley. The governor was going to speak on a patriotic occasion at Cotton Plant, some 20 miles away, and the interest was so great that the railroad ran a special train. My parents and I went.

Governor Davis was a portly man with a florid complexion. I can not remember what he said but he said it in a strong voice with strong gestures.

One man resented some remark — or maybe he just resented the governor — and they would have come to blows had not bystanders prevented.

Afterward, my parents and I rode in the carriage with the governor.

Davis was an invincible campaigner. When I ran the paper in Piggott in 1919 and 1920, he had been dead a number of years but men still talked about him. Those who had condemned him as a demagogue were milder in their statements; in fact, there was a tinge of admiration in their remarks.

Arkansas in those days was a rural state with only one large city, Little Rock. Davis was able to convince the "old wool-hatted boys" that he was fighting for the "red-necks and gully-jumpers" against the rich, selfish interests of Little Rock, and his listeners would throw their wool hats into the air.

Jeff talked their language. "I can't sing," he would say, "ruined my voice when I was little, yelling for biscuits and gravy." His wife would have liked to be there, he declared, but "she's at the mansion putting up peaches." All his listeners were invited to visit the mansion and have dinner with the Davises when they visited Little Rock.

Davis was elected to the United States Senate and was a member of that body when he died.

Dear Editor,

If disaster should strike Canyon, where would the morgue be? What building with facilities could be used as a temporary hospital for emergency treatment? Who would be in charge and direct the rescue operations? Who would notify people that own station wagons and panel trucks that their vehicles were needed as temporary ambulances?

These questions could be easily answered if Canyon had a Civil Defense Unit.

At the present time Canyon has no such organization. The sheriff has sort of an emergency crew set up. He is supposed to head a civil defense unit for Canyon, but he doesn't have the time to do it. His duties as sheriff take all of his time. He desperately needs some help in setting up a Civil Defense Unit for Canyon and Randall County.

People in the rural area around Canyon should also be concerned about this important matter. Suppose the school should catch on fire. Many of the children attending Canyon Public Schools live in rural areas; therefore, rural families should be as concerned about the welfare and safety of their children as people living in town. A school fire disaster happened in Chicago and it could happen here.

Brownfield citizens could also tell Canyon residents that disaster can and does happen. Two major highways go through Canyon. All types of motor vehicles travel these highways 24 hours a day. An accident similar to the one in Brownfield could happen here!

The missile base that is to be built in Randall County is another good reason for having a Civil Defense Unit in Canyon. Sometimes guided missiles goof and get off of their regular course.

After disaster strikes there is much confusion and it is too late to get organized. The old quotation, "A stitch in time saves nine," could save many lives if disaster did strike and Canyon and Randall County had a well organized Civil Defense Unit. It would be embarrassing for Canyon if some disaster should strike and Civil Defense Units from Amarillo, Hereford and Tulia had to come and take care of the dead and injured.

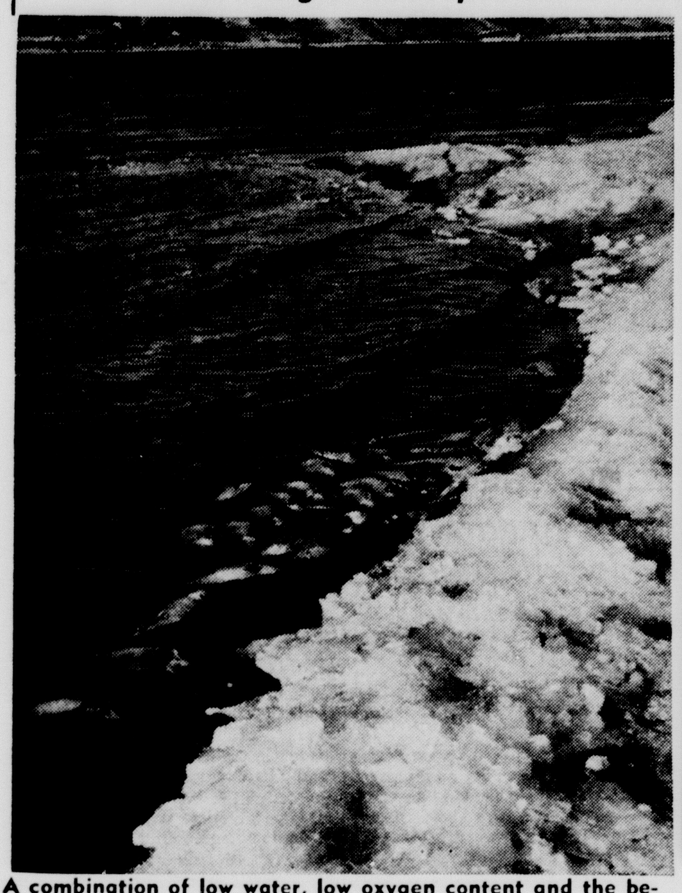
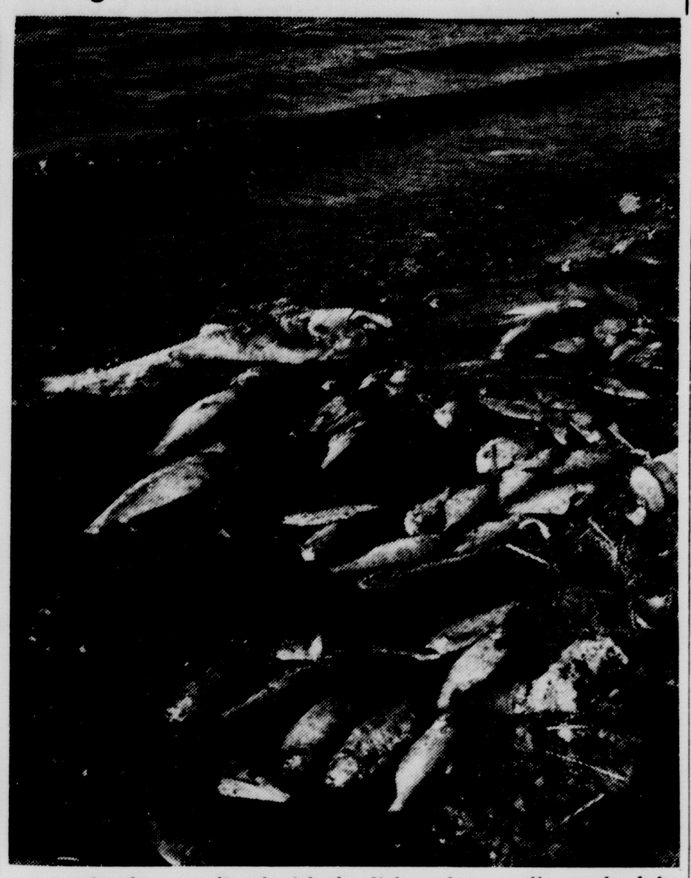
Big Freezeup Causes Fish Slaughter at Buffalo Lake





A combination of low water, low oxygen content and the below zero temperatures a couple of weeks ago killed thousands of fish at Buffalo Lake. The fish are believed to have suffocated, and they washed to shore during the following week. Most of the fish were shad, a rough fish that game and fish commission men have been trying to eradicate, but a good number of catfish and crappie were also killed. The windswept banks were lined with the fish and sea gulls on the lake had a field day. Some of the fish found along the banks were still alive, but were not strong enough to continue swimming if thrown back in the deeper water. The big catfish in one of the pictures was about 18 inches long and probably weighed five or six pounds when alive.

Mrs. Gibson Speaks On Broadway Plays

A program on this season's Broadway plays was presented by Mrs. Joe Gibson to members of the Woman's Book Club last Wednesday in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Mrs. Gibson chose the Pulitzer Prize winning play "Dark at the Top of the Stairs" by William Inge. She also gave resumes of "The Touch of the Poet," "The World of Suzie Wong" and "J. B."

Mrs. S. B. Loudder was elected to serve on the Library Board.

Attention was called to the meeting of the 7th District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, scheduled for Borger April 2-3.

Nominations for officers for 1959 will be presented at the Jan. 28 meeting. Members of the nominating committee will be Mrs. S. H. Condron, Mrs. Ray Campbell and Mrs. James P. Cornette.

Books in memory of Mrs. Irving SoRelle and Mrs. J. Evetts Haley have been selected and will be placed on the memorial section in the Randall County Public Library. Each club member donated $1 to the library, carrying on a Christmas tradition.

Twenty members were present at the meeting.

A news item the other day announced that the U. S. Government is about to undertake a two-million-dollar survey of how Americans spend their money. Seems this is pretty important, both for keeping cost-of-living records accurate, and to protect pensioners against sub-normal living standards.

No doubt this will be two million dollars well spent. We always like to see scientific proof of what we already know. But while waiting for the figures, we wouldn't find the answers too hard to guess. From the standpoint of an average American with one foot in the sub-standard ditch and no pension, we'd say most Americans spend their money on what breaks first.

This is likely to be the result no matter how careful the budgeting. Take almost any household as a case study, change the items to fit, and you've got the all-American pattern for spending:

Start saving for a new kitchen stove and the water heater goes out . . . Plan for new carpets and the old car begins to sputter and stall . . . Put aside $100 for a new suit and you get a chance to buy an air-conditoiner half-price, a bargain you can't afford to pass up! . . . Start saving right after Christmas bills are paid for Junior's college education that begins next fall, and Cissy falls madly in love: June wedding edges out fall registration.

We won't say you can't win, because we are by nature optimistic. We'd say, rather, that Americans have so many fine opportunities to spend their money that the choices aren't always on record. The flight it finally makes depends on salesmanship, necessity and the unpredictable tomorrow.

Competition Slated For Acting Trophy

Bill Cornette, who was selected as the best actor in the play presented by the junior class of Canyon High School, will compete against the best actor of the senior class play for the Best Actor award.

The winner's name will be engraved on the trophy.

Senior class play has been set for March 19-20.

Receiving honorable mention for the junior acting title were Judy Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parsons; Marcia Nan Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barker and Charles Nester, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Nester.

Judging points were voice, characterization, movement, contrast, ensemble, timing and motivation.

Things could be worse. Suppose your errors were tabulated and published every day, like those of a ballplayer.

Everything is "drive-in" nowadays. We have drive-in banks, drive-in theaters—everything, that is — but streets.

ANNUAL STOCKHOLDERS MEETING TOMORROW NITE

Annual stockholders meeting of the Canyon City Club will be held tomorrow evening in the American Legion Hall, according to Carroll Vaughan, secretary of the group.

All stockholders are urged to be present as important business will be discussed.

Men who are industrious, sincere and honest will have easy sledding on their way to success.

A great many men shiver in the cold just because they imagined they had the fire of genius.

What a man gets out of the world today depends largely on what he puts into it.

The music's outlandish — the lyrics don't fit — it's crazy and tuneless — but boy, what a hit!

Too many people who save for a rainy day work on the assumption that it will be a light shower.

FHA Emblem Service

Girls from the Canyon High Future Homemakers chapter explained the meaning of their emblem to the Lions Club recently. They were Sarah Ragle, reader, Barbara Erwin, pianist, Bambi Green, Judy Roberts, Janie Jarrett, Kathy Hinger, Ann Warwick, Jeanne Wheeler, singer, Marie Dowlen, Gail Moore and Phyllis Gerdsen.

Lindsey Addresses Explorer Meeting

Colonel Lindsey discussed the ROTC program and its advantages.

This was the second meeting after organizing the post under the Explorer program, which is an advanced scouting program for high school boys.

Tom White, president, has arranged a "glamour panel" for the next meeting, which will be tomorrow. Any boys interested in joining the Explorer program should get in touch with Tom White.

Visitors in the P. M. Wilson home were Mr. and Mrs. Olie Ford of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Tige Groves and Suzy of Stinnett, Mr. and Mrs. Hamill Wilson and children of Fritch, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groves and daughter of Hereford and Rue Paula Groves of West Texas State College. They all visited Johnny Wilson in Veterans Hospital in Amarillo. Others visiting Johnny were Mrs. E. C. Britin and children of Stinnett and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Johnson of Springel.

Cake Decorating Workshop Slated

A cake decorating workshop will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the Farm Bureau building, 1710 Fifth Avenue.

Each of the home demonstration clubs is expected to have two leaders at the workshop, and each leader is to bring a cake, iced and ready to decorate.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Inflation: Number One Enemy

Communism cannot conquer this nation. Inflation can.

The preservation of a strong economy in any country requires a constant vigilance on the part of the people against inflation. In our time we have seen the ravages of this economic disease in many countries throughout the world. It is now eating at the vitals of many nations. It has gained a foothold in this country, and unless it is checked, it could become the economic cancer that could disastrously soften us.

Thus, we could become fair game for the Communists. We in our time have watched a number of countries that permitted inflation to go unchecked. In every instance an economic revolution was necessary and the result was a change in the form of government.

Under the circumstances, we should at least recognize the fact that, unless we are willing to pay the price to check inflation, we, too, are running the risk of losing our form of government as we have known it. This is not intended to be an alarmist statement, but it is simply for the purpose of facing up to the facts.

We heard our own President, in his recent State of the Union Message, speak of a balanced federal budget. This remark resulted in extended applause, as it should have. Everyone is for a balanced budget, but somehow it never seems to get balanced.

The question is, "What is going to be done about it?" We look at the estimates and figures of the Bureau of the Budget for the past several years and we see a claim that the budget of 1956 produced a surplus of 1.6 billions of dollars; that 1957 actually produced a surplus of 1.6 billions of dollars.

It was estimated in that report that the 1958 fiscal operations would result in a deficit of 400 million dollars, and that 1959 would result in a surplus of 500 million dollars. Adding all of these figures and subtracting the deficits from the surplus claimed by the Administration, we find that we should have 3 billion 300 million dollars in extra cash.

Yet, in 1958 the Administration came to the Congress and said we have no money, we must have additional authority to borrow money. At that time the debt ceiling was 275 billion dollars. The Congress, in response to the pleas of the Administration, authorized a temporary increase of the national debt to 288 billion dollars until June 30, 1959, and a permanent increase thereafter to the sum of 283 billions of dollars.

Now, according to one set of Administration figures, the country should be 3 billion 300 million dollars in the black on its operations since 1955; yet, by another set of figures it is necessary for the federal government to have borrowing authority of an additional 13 billion dollars until June 30, 1959, in order to meet its financial requirements.

I have been unable to find out what happened to the 3.3 billion dollar surplus.

During this period of time between 1955 and the time that the authority to increase the public debt was allowed, we find that the American taxpayer was required to pay the sum of 1 billion 429 million dollars in additional interest charges for the same amount of money.

The interest charges for the fiscal year 1955 amounted to 6 billion 438 million dollars. The interest charges for 1958, according to the Budget Bureau figures, were 7 billion 867 million dollars. This means that in 1955 the taxpayers were paying approximately 6½ billions of dollars in interest each year for the use of approximately 275 billion dollars.

Less than 3 years later, the American taxpayer was paying almost 8 billion dollars for this same amount of money, and this will increase next year. It occurred to me that if these folks are really serious about balancing the budget, the increased amount of interest that the taxpayers had to pay might make the difference between a balanced and unbalanced budget.

Some people will argue that hard money and high interest rates operate to control inflationary trends. This may have been true a number of years ago, but the reverse is true today. Such a policy under our present economy is fuel for inflationary trends.

The increase in the cost of money in Wall Street is reflected quickly in the price of a product that you and I purchase in our daily living. This, of course, constitutes an increase in the cost of living index. The increase in the cost of living index, in turn, triggers the escalator provisions in wage contracts tied to the cost of living index.

This increase in the wage requirements is soon reflected in the money market and the inflationary spiral continues onward and upward. The people who get hurt first are the old-age pensioners and those people who are living on small, fixed incomes, and who cannot absorb the increase in the cost of living.

The others are those on small, earned incomes who do not operate under a cost of living escalator clause, and who are also unable to absorb the impact of the cost of living increase. This illustration could go on and on until the entire government blows up, which is exactly what will happen if the inflation is not checked.

Of course, this does not mean that easy money and the issuance of more money by the government is the answer to inflation. It is not. It is one of the causes. The control of the medium of exchange of any country must be geared to the economy of that country. This requires the constant maintenance of a very delicate balance.

Some men who desert their wives shouldn't be charged with desertion. Most of them are in reality refugees.

The almighty dollar commands a lot of respect. But it doesn't go as far as politeness.

Highest temperature ever recorded at any Texas weather station was 120 degrees F. at Seymour on Aug. 12, 1936.

Peas and Spuds Are Plentiful Now

Potatoes and canned peas take the spotlight among foods on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Plentiful Foods list for February.

Also expected to be plentiful in the Southwest are apples, celery, cabbage, pork, milk and dairy products, eggs, turkey, peanuts and peanut products, walnuts, honey and sardines.

Both of the featured items are repeats from January. Potato crop estimates by the end of December were higher than previously set. The fall crop reached 180,897,000 cwt.—29 million more than average.

A big pack of canned peas, plus a large carryover, made a total supply of 45 million cases. Quality is the best in many years.

Apples and walnuts also are repeat items. Pork prices already have dropped considerably. And as more of the huge fall pig crop is marketed in February, March and April, homemakers will find it to their advantage to serve pork often.

Milk production is picking up, seasonally, and egg producers have a huge laying flock that should provide abundant eggs. Supplies of all sizes of turkey are expected to be plentiful, but particularly the smaller consumer sizes. California sardines are abundant after several years of short supply.

Large acreages of winter celery and cabbage indicate substantial supplies of these items. Honey stocks were replenished generously by last year's good crop.

Some cheered and some wept, but none will soon forget the eventful, suspenseful opening day of the House of Representatives of the 56th Legislature.

Waggoner Carr became the third man in recent history to win a second term as Speaker of the House; and Joe Burkett became the only one in many years to lose by so close a vote — 79 to 71.

Burkett and Carr had been in a hard-fought contest for a year and a half. Burkett, from Kerrville in the Hill country, is a staunch conservative. Carr, from Lubbock in the South Plains, had more liberal support.

When the day came, every representative was present, and the floor and galleries were jammed with spectators. Secretary of State Zollie Steakley served as temporary presiding officer. An elaborate voting procedure was agreed upon to safeguard secrecy and assure fairness.

Representatives filed to the front of the chamber, one by one, had their folded ballots initialed by the clerk and then placed them personally in the ballot box. Six watchers, three representing each candidate, stood by.

The ballot box was opened and results called out, one by one. Only sound in the large chamber was the scratching of the pens of many score keepers, and the occasional fidgeting or gasping as the lead see-sawed between the candidates.

A cheer went up as Carr received his victory-assuring 76th vote. A round of hand shaking, back slapping and congratulating began. Following the final count, a procession composed of Carr's family and supporters escorted the Lubbock representative to the rostrum to take the oath of office.

On With the Show

After the opening dust had settled, Legislators turned to their everyday concerns.

Most immediate and pressing problem was finding money to operate the Legislature. Since the state's main monetary cupboard, the general fund, was bare (worse still, in debt), there wasn't so much as a nickel on hand to pay salaries of the lawmakers and their helpers, nor even for stamps, stationery, phone calls and travel. A bill was offered to appropriate $2,300,000 that had accumulated in two special funds.

Several plans were being talked about to solve the even more vexatious long-term problem of overall budget balancing. To do so will involve finding money to pay off an expected general fund deficit of $65,000,000 plus some $130,000,000 in new money to meet expected expenses for 1960-61. Only alternative would be numerous and painful economies.

Generally, there seem to be two schools of thought developing on taxation: (1) those who hope to avoid a new tax by upping many present levies, such as selective sales taxes, removing several exemptions and re-shuffling funds here and there and (2) those who say the present tax blanket can't be stretched any further and that "pot shot, patch work" taxation should be replaced by an overall plan to distribute the increasing cost of government among more people.

Panorama

Other items for the record of what promises to be an historic Legislature:

SEN. GEORGE PARKHOUSE of Dallas is new president pro tempore of the Senate, and as such, third in line to the governor. An outdoor advertising executive Parkhouse is beginning his third Senate term.

NO FREE OVERTIME, resolved Senators in one of their first official acts, a resolution to quit on the dot May 12 when the 120-day pay period runs out. House members cheered the announcement.

A FAMOUS NAME returned to public life as Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin took the oath as senator. Former Congressman Martin Dies Sr., long identified with the Dies Un-American Activities Investigating Committee, came to see his son sworn in.

"BABY OF THE HOUSE" is Rep. Jack Connell Jr. of Wichita Falls, youngest person ever to sit in the House. Connell was 21 years old plus 14 days on general election day.

A FOOTBALL STAR when he's not a lawmaker is Yale Lary, freshman representative from Fort Worth. Lary, a defensive back for the Detroit Lions pro team, was a college star for Texas A&M.

ONE GOVERNOR'S SON succeeded another as W. P. Hobby Jr. was named parliamentarian of the Senate, a post held last session by Dan Moody Jr.

AN EARLY CRISIS was averted when the House sergeant-at-arms rushed a spittoon to the desk of snuff-dipping Rep. Jerry Sadler of Percilla. Spittoons, once a standard accessory, had gotten lost in the chamber's revamping.

FOLKS WITH MONEY-SPENDING IDEAS had best be armed with money-finding ideas when they come to the Legislature this year. This warning was issued by Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria in an Austin address.

THIRD HOUSE has its own ceremonials this year as, for the first time, lobbyists are required to register under the new law. From the length and variety of the list, there's a lobbyist for practically everything and everybody — teachers, farmers, firemen, policemen, labor unions, industries and even church groups.

Governor's Appointments

Gov. Price Daniel has appointed Secretary of State Zollie Steakley to a second term and promoted two assistants in the governor's office.

George Christian, former press assistant, becomes executive assistant, taking over non-legal duties of Jake Jacobsen. Jacobsen left to enter private law practice.

John Goldsum was promoted to administrative assistant and will take over Jacobsen's legal duties.

Pay For Secretaries Debated

One of the first issues for debate in the 56th Legislature was pay for secretaries of Senate and House members. Generally accepted rate is $14 per day for Senate secretaries and $10 for the House. But a resolution must be passed setting amounts of the salaries, at the beginning of each session. Rep. Obie Jones of Austin said House secretaries should receive $12 a day because the $10-a-day figure was embarrassing to House secretaries when they met their Senate counterparts during coffee breaks. Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria pointed out that the state couldn't afford the increase. "Maybe," he said, "we'll have to pay them out of our own pockets," and he pointed out that not all Senate secretaries received $14 — that some of them were paid as low as $7 per day.

Gerald McClures Honored in Happy

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boone McClure of San Angelo were honored with a "pink and blue" shower by the family Sunday afternoon in the Hobart McManigal home in Happy.

Cousins of the couple had charge of the entertaining. Cheryl Ann McClure of Canyon conducted a memory contest on layette articles. Each member of the family was asked to bring his baby picture. Anne McManigal of Plainview numbered these and passed them around for identification.

Mrs. H. L. Rowell Jr. of Happy read "Recipe and Formula for Little Boys and Little Girls" by Louis J. Sanker, and presented the gifts to the honoree.

After the gifts were opened and passed around for the group to view, Hobart McManigal Jr. collected the names of each person and notes to form a letter to Gerald, who is in a hospital.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a tiny bassinet and baby doll guarded by two miniature storks on a mirrored base. Lighted white tapers in crystal holders completed the appointments.

Carla Hudgins of Lubbock served the cake and Cheryl Ann McClure poured coffee and punch.

Members of the families present were Mrs. Gerald McClure of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Billie McClure and Anne McManigal of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Carla Hudgins and Carla of Lubbock; Mrs. S. B. McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Boone McClure and Cheryl Ann of Canyon.

Mrs. Frank Norfleet, Mrs. Fitz Benson, Mrs. Viola Moody and Mrs. Pete Norfleet of Hale Center; Mrs. Ernest Jones of Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rowell, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart McManigal and Hobart Jr. of Happy.

Gifts were sent by Mr. and Mrs. Don Hudgins McClure of Baton Rouge, La., and Mrs. Oscar Read of Happy, a friend of the hosts.

Amarillo Group Gives Scholarships

A gift of almost $1,400 has been presented to the West Texas State College art department for scholarships by the Connoisseur Society of Amarillo.

Accumulated through dues of club members and from two gifts to the society, the money will be used as scholarship awards to outstanding WT art students, according to Dr. Emilio Caballero, head of the department. A check for the amount was presented to Dr. Caballero by Earl G. Wyatt, recorder-treasurer of the society.

"This very generous gift is a profound expression of the faith in those basic creative values that the society of the humanities can give in today's scientific world," Dr. Caballero said.

The Connoisseur Society, whose co-chairmen are Mrs. R. Dean Kirk and Mrs. C. M. Humphrys, was first organized formally in 1945, though several of its charter members had previously met informally. Among charter members were Mr. and Mrs. Bourden R. Barfield, Judge and Mrs. James D. Hamlin and Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt.

Purpose of the society, according to Mrs. Wyatt, is "to create an interest in and an appreciation of the Fine Arts in the community." It meets once a month for programs in the field of the arts and humanities.

The group has sponsored a number of exhibitions and programs in Amarillo and Canyon, the first of which was an exhibition of "Old Masters" paintings in the Herring Hotel in 1945.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

How much water will your soil hold?

Moisture in the soil for plant use is held around the small soil particles in the form of a thin film. With more small soil particles a total of more surface area for the moisture film is obtained. This is one reason fine textured soils hold more water than sandy soils.

More total pore space or voids in the soil is greater in the fine textured soils than the sandy soils. This may be seen by the use of a bucket full of golf balls and a similar bucket full of tennis balls. The amount of water required to fill the voids in the bucket of golf balls will be greater than the amount to fill the voids between the tennis balls.

The general amounts of moisture held and available for plant use in the top five feet of our soils are: hardlands — 10 inches; mixlands — 8 inches; sandy-lands — 6 inches and shallowlands — 6 inches.

The ability of the soil to hold moisture can be increased by adding organic matter. This organic matter can be in the form of plant residue worked into the top soil or deep rooted grasses and legumes.

The supervisors of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District recommend the use of shallow and deep placement of organic matter for a greater water holding capacity for your soils.

Umbarger will host the officers of the State Council Knights of Columbus as they convene for a two-day business meeting Saturday.

Business meetings of the council will be held in the Knights of Columbus Club hall and St. Mary's hall.

State officers expected to attend are N. A. Quintanilla of San Antonio, state deputy; James F. Houlihan of Port Lavaca, past state deputy; Rt. Rev. E. G. Langenhorst of Fort Worth, state chaplain; R. E. Parson of Gilmer, state secretary; Jack F. Collerain of Houston, state treasurer.

Denning Schattman of Fort Worth, state advocate; Ben Koch of Umbarger, state warden; Edwin D. Gunter of Austin, executive assistant to the state council, and R. Conroy Scoggins of Houston, supreme director.

Four past state deputies, highest office in the state organization, will attend the meeting. They are Reynaldo Garza of Brownsville, M. J. Babin Jr. of Hitchcock, Gus J. Straus of Hallettsville and R. Conroy Scoggins of Houston.

These men represent 165 subordinate councils throughout Texas with a membership of 3,000 men.

The Knights of Columbus is a fraternal organization of Catholic men to provide a system of fraternal insurance to care for the widows and orphans of members, to provide fellowship, to aid the cause of religion and to perform charitable, educational and patriotic works.

The Texas State Council has, among its numerous charitable endeavors, built a youth center, St. Mary's Chapel at Texas A. & M. College, and St. Theresa of the Little Flowers Chapel at the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Carlsbad, Texas.

The Umbarger council 2808 was instituted April, 1939, and its present membership is 115.

John L. Wieck, Grand Knight of the Umbarger council, said that a broiled steak dinner would be served at 6:30 p. m. Saturday to close the first day's session.

4 WT Graduates Commissioned

Four West Texas State College mid-term graduates have received commissions as second lieutenants in the Army Reserve, after completing Reserve Officers' Training Corps work.

Receiving bars in "pinning" ceremonies were Hayden Goodnight and Jack Hupp of Amarillo, Sammie James of Estelline, and Charles Quattlebaum of Hereford.

Quattlebaum, who also was commissioned into the Regular Army, and James were designated by the Army as Distinguished Military Graduates, according to Lt. Col. Edward L. Lindsey, professor of military science and tactics.

Three of the men will enter the infantry as choice of branch service, and James will continue training in ordnance.
